Antioxidant Protection

Free Radical Damage

Medical and scientific researchers have a growing concern about the increasing presence of free radicals in the body and their direct cause to a variety of health concerns. Free radicals can damage bodily tissue—making people sick, causing them to age and eventually causing death.

PBGS+® Fights Back

Help build your body's defense system and fight free radicals with PBGS+.* PBGS+ provides a synergistic combination of antioxidants that nourish the foundation of the human body, the cells and tissues.* The ingredients in PBGS+ are 100% bio-available and work to neutralize the free radical reactions that are responsible for the progressive deterioration of biological systems.*

PBGS+ is a unique product formulated with a patented proprietary Oligomeric ProanthoCyanidins (OPC) blend from French maritime pine bark and grape seed standardized extracts. OPCs are considered members of the bioflavonoid family and have been shown to be even more powerful than other types of antioxidants such as vitamins C or A.

Like vitamin C and many other essential nutrients, OPCs cannot be produced in our bodies and must be obtained from food sources. Most people do not obtain these vital nutrients in their diet. OPCs are highly concentrated in the bark, stems, leaves and skins of many fruits and vegetables, and what little may be left in our food is often destroyed by cooking. Therefore, even those who eat balanced diets are likely to be OPC-deficient.

Regardless of age, gender, or lifestyle, everyone should supplement their diet with PBGS+ every day. It is no wonder that many nutritional experts believe that this "superchemical" may well be the botanical formula with the greatest potential for benefitting human health.
